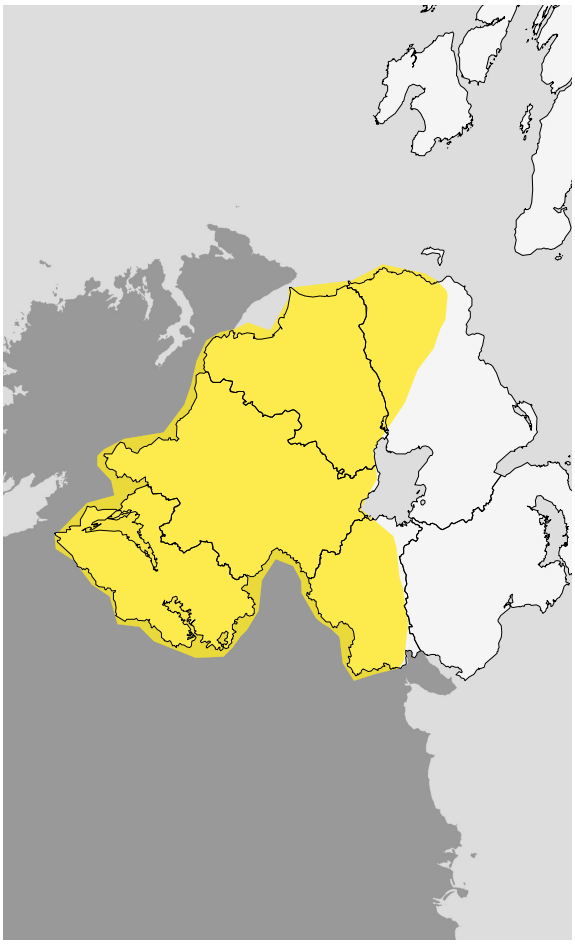
Yellow warning
Snow & Ice

Between
20:00 Thu 6 Jan 2022 and
11:00 Fri 7 Jan 2022



Frequent sleet, hail and snow showers may lead to some disruption to travel during Thursday night and Friday morning.

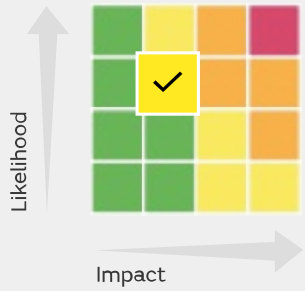
What to expect

- Some roads and railways likely to be affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services
- Some injuries from slips and falls on icy surfaces
- Probably some icy patches on some untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths

Further details

Frequent wintry showers arriving from the west during Thursday evening and overnight are likely to lead to a covering of snow for areas above 200 m (mainly around 2-4 cm, possibly as much as 5-10 cm over highest ground where showers are most frequent). Falling snow below this level may cause some temporary slushy accumulations which then may freeze and cause dangerous, icy patches where skies remain clear for long enough.

Winds will be gusty around heavier showers and there is also a small chance of lightning strikes from isolated thunderstorms in the northwest.



Medium likelihood of low impacts
